

GOT $1,340 FAIRLY, GIRL OF MYSTERY INSISTS IN CELL

Mathilda Neiman Says Her Relatives, Prominent Warsaw Folk, Gave Some of It.

ONCE SERVED JAIL TERM.

Then Reformed, She Declares, and Saved—Won't Tell Family's Name.

"I am no thief and I came honestly by the money the police found in my handbag when they arrested me," sobbed Miss Mathilda G. Neiman to an Evening World reporter as she sat in the matron's room of the Tombs Prison to-day and related her story—as much of it as she would tell. She is said to belong to an aristocratic Polish family of Warsaw, Russia.

She is a woman of mystery to the police and, curiously enough, although she has been held in $3,000 bail, all that they have against her is a past conviction and a suspicion that she did not come honestly by $64.87 found in her handbag, which also contained bankbooks showing deposits of $738 in two banks.

"How did you get all this money?" the woman, who is small, dark haired and about twenty-five years of age, was asked.

"Some of it I saved out of my earnings," she replied, "and some of it I got from relatives in Russia. I had the bank accounts since 1909 before I was accused of stealing at Coney Island and was sent to the Bedford Reformatory. I am a good honest girl and I have friends to say that I am."

"But before I gave the police the names of my two sisters in Russia, I have them know the disgrace I am in I will kill myself. My home was in Warsaw. Our family has been there for many generations. I can remember my grandfather. My father died before I came to America and my mother has died since then. I am Polish. We are Catholics."

SAYS SHE EXPECTED TO BUY A NEWSTAND.

"There came a sad incident in my life and I left Russia. I cannot tell you what it was. My people gave me the money to get here. My father had been a business man known to everybody in Warsaw. From time to time after I reached here my mother sent me money, and after her death one of my sisters sent me money."

"My first job was in the office of a gentleman who recommended me to Mr. Decker of the Hotel King Edward. At the time of my last arrest I had been working as cashier in the dining room of that hotel. I had been there for two weeks, and one of the envelopes found in the handbag contained $3.87, and was my pay up to Friday, as I had quit. I did not speak very good English and it was hard for me to understand the orders."

"Before I worked at the King Edward I was a door maid at the Martha Washington Hotel. I never stole anything in either place. I handled much money at the King Edward, and I took care of rooms of women who had money. I was very careful. I never stole anything. I saved every cent I earned. The card-case the police say I stole Saturday afternoon I picked up from the sidewalk at Broadway and Thirty-fourth street. It did not contain a penny."

"Where were you going, and why?"

IS YOUR CHILD'S TONGUE COATED?

If cross, feverish, bilious, stomach sour, give "Syrup of Figs" to clean its little clogged-up bowels.

Mother! Don't scold your cross, peevish child! Look at the tongue! See if it is white, yellow and coated! If your child is listless, drooping, isn't sleeping well, is restless, doesn't eat heartily or is cross, irritable, out of sorts with everybody, stomach sour, feverish, breath bad, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, or is full of cold, it means the little one's stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste matter and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

Give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs and in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, undigested food, and bile will gently move on and out of its little waste clogged bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being careful and untiringly of lusty, healthy, active and happy, they can't be harmful—besides, they dearly love its delicious taste.

Mother! Should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given to-day will save a sick child to-morrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious, healthy, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

BY NIXOLA GREELEY-SMITH.

"There should be a head to everything, even in partnership, a court of last resort, and that, in the case of marriage, should be the man, because his intellect and knowledge of the world should be greater than those of his wife. Such a thing as two bosses is an absurdity."

So a masculine reader of The Evening World disposes of the problem of dominion in the home, and in a very unusual communication a married woman reaches the same conclusion, though for reasons far different from those stated in the man's letter. "Let a man rule at all times," she says. "It is the only way it is possible to endure him."

This feminine advocate of masculine authority has many ideas which most of us may regard as a little old-fashioned, but she reaches, nevertheless, a startlingly modern conclusion. A class of feminists with whom I have absolutely no sympathy exist in New York and elsewhere who maintain men as such are intrinsically uninteresting; that fatherhood is their only excuse for being. And here we have an old-fashioned wife urging other women to have children because "you can forget a lot of trouble while you are rocking a baby to sleep, and most men are cruel, selfish and not to be trusted. Raise your family well and their love and respect will repay you for all your trouble. There is always a silver lining to every cloud."

COMING TO A POINT FROM OPPOSITE DIRECTIONS.

So from opposite poles of argument a man and a woman meet on the principle that the husband shall be the lawgiver in his home, the man basing his argument on a supposed superiority of his sex, the woman urging man's negligibility.

Surely there must be some friend of the modern woman who will break a lance in defense of her claims to rulership. Since Mary Garden has said that the American woman is an autocrat in her own home there must be an autocrat or two with the desire to take her pen in hand to assert and justify her authority.

I do not feel competent to do so as I believe in the democracy of the home and have no regard for tyrants of either sex.

I must admit also that I am unable to weigh properly the theological doctrines advanced by "J. R." in support of his contention that the husband shall be the head of the home. The facility with which such delicate matters adjust themselves to the accomplished admiration. Since suffrage for women became the law in California no prelate of the Golden Gate, so far as I am aware, has raised his voice against it, and others formerly opposed or indifferent are now loud in its praise. Only to "J. R." who cites chapter and verse against the equality of women in the home and asks what women have to say about it, I must observe that women are not worrying at all on that score, because the moment equality becomes a fact the better qualified interpreters of texts will elucidate their new meanings.

Eliminating the assertion that the divine origin of what is its foundation? Naturally the man's financial headship. But if the husband is the head of the home because it is his special function to maintain it while the wife cares for it, then the relation of husband and wife is not one of partnership at all, but of employer and employee. Wherever there is a partnership, an association of two or more persons with equal rights and responsibilities, there is a division of duty and of authority.

Here are the views of the man and the woman who agree that the husband shall rule the home. What do you think about it?

CHILDREN THE SECRET OF A WOMAN'S LOVE.

Dear Madam: Let a man rule at all times. Most men of to-day can't out for yourselves. Don't worry and fret over men. They are not worth it. Most are cruel, selfish and not to be trusted. Raise your family well and their love and respect will repay you for all your trouble. There is always a silver lining to every cloud. Let a man rule at all times," she says. "It is the only way it is possible to endure him."

WHY A MAN THINKS A HUSBAND SHOULD BE BOSS.

Dear Madam: Kaiser Wilhelm, who believes that he is divinely commissioned to help the Deity in regulating the affairs of the universe, is reported to have recommended women to cultivate the three K's—"die Küche, die Kirche und die Kinder," or, Englished, the kitchen, the church and the kids, which are certainly more important as "first principles" than those of Herbert Spencer. All women can chatter, but few can converse, and if a man is fortunate enough to have a wife who is a hausfrau and a hyphen at the same time he is to be congratulated in possessing an enviable treasure, for usually beauty and brains have no bond of union except that they both begin with the letter B. But to come back to our nuttiness, as they say in France. If a woman really believes in her religion, how can she desire to be the boss, since her Bible tells her in Genesis III, 12, that it was not man's choice but God's that he should "rule" over woman? Yet how does this explain the refusal of many women to marry unless the word "bosny" is eliminated from the marriage ceremony?

All this talk of the American henpecked husband has a basis of fact. Where there is so much smoke there must be some fire, and most every one has met the prototypes of Mrs. Nagg and Mrs. Jarr in real life. Dropping the religious aspect of the question and basing the matter on ordinary common sense, it is pertinent to ask those ladies who are inclined to boss, "Why do you think that you are competent to rule your husband when you have never shown the slightest ability to rule your own servants, which most any man of ordinary intelligence is able to do successfully in his own business?" Of course that does not excuse the man who allows himself to be bullied. He deserves all that is coming to him in the shape of contempt from his fellow men, and, indeed, of course, also the contempt of the female bully herself. There must be a head to everything, even in partnership—a court of last resort—and that in the case of marriage should be the man, because his intellect and knowledge of the world should be greater than those of his wife. Such a thing as two bosses is an absurdity. The

TELLS WORKING GIRLS NOT TO "APE LADIES OF FIFTH AVENUE"

Rose Pastor Stokes Predicts "Peaceful Rising of Labor Against Capital."

"The rich have no real wealth of their own but they have taxing power, given to them by the capitalist-owned Legislatures," Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes said yesterday at a vestment-makers' meeting at Clinton Hall. "The capitalist class," she added, "has built up a legal machine, but the working class will not stand it much longer. The socialistic revolution, however, will be peaceful."

"The power of capitalism, with its navy, its militia and its police, cannot withstand the organized movement of the working class. You must be free from the miseries of the wage system."

Mrs. Stokes advised the working girls whom she was addressing not to try to "ape the looks and manners of the elegant ladies on Fifth avenue."

GOT HER DUCKY BY AN EGG.

ST. Wrote to Address on Shell, and There's to Be Wedding.

Another egg that might have added humbly in the construction of a promise omelet and been lost to fame has produced a romance. This ambassador of Cupid, who often plays this shell game, came from the home of W. S. McCarter, a tailor of Broken Bow, Neb., to the court of Miss Lina Lane of Middletown, N. J. Here is the story told by the young woman who found a beau in Broken Bow by way of an egg:

"Some time ago I found an egg in a crate with Mr. McCarter's name on it. Just for fun I wrote to him, never expecting an answer. But a week later I got a letter from Billy, who said some very nice things, as well as enclosing his picture and business card. He asked me to send my picture."

"After thinking it all over I sent the picture. Then we corresponded. Billy proposed marriage and I accepted. We will wed just as soon as I can get my things together and get to Nebraska."

FEATHER FIGHT DROPPED.

Associated Milliners Find Mrs. McCulloch's Case No Test.

Lawyer Louis Marshall in the Court of special Sessions to-day announced that the associated milliners who had retained him to defend Mrs. Helen B. McCulloch of No. 429 West One Hundred and Nineteenth street, who was arrested under the ten and game laws for offering dresses for sale, had instructed him to withdraw from the case.

Mrs. McCulloch, Mr. Marshall explained, was not a milliner. The evidence that she had offered dresses for sale which had been in her family many years could not be contradicted and the milliners had nothing to offer in a test of her case. Mrs. McCulloch was a judge guilty and sentence was suspended.

Spartans tried a double line of kinks and there never was a row of pins as a real king. A man should rule his business, and the wife should rule the home, and neither should interfere with the other unless things go wrong, when, of course, there should be a mutual discussion of the best way out, and, as a last resort only, the decision must be left to the man. If the woman refuses to abide as he is the wrong kind of wife, and if the man is unable to decide he is the wrong kind of a husband, and the two women the two separate the better. This, as I understand it, is the only meaning of "rule" as applied to a husband. Have the ladies something better to offer?
